CLEAN
YOUR ROOMS!

Volume 22

GEORGIA TEACHERS COLLEGE, COLLEGEBOBO, GA., SATURDAY, JAN. 7, 1950

NUMBER 11

Strict Room Inspection Will Include 12 Points

Well, girls, more regulations. This time it is room-cleaning. Room inspection will be made in all three girls' dormitories, plus Sanford, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. A check will be made of 12 points: (1) Beds made, (2) floors swept, (3) trash cans emptied, (4) window sills cleaned and uncluttered, (5) "Coke" bottles returned to crates, (6) kitchen dishes returned, (7) lavatory and mirror clean, (8) closets orderly, (9) dresser and desk dusted and straightened, (10) clothes and shoes put away, (11) trash not swept into halls, and (12) any other reason.

In addition to the room cleaning regulations, changes and additions found in the "T" book, page 37, have recently been set up by the administration.

Dress (women) to be added to page 58:

Until arrangements are made for dressing and undressing in the gym all girls are to wear their raincoats or other long coats when going to and from the gym. Girls may go to the post office for their mail provided they wear their coats buttoned up and do not sit down and visit while so dressed.

Girls are never to go to the dining hall or to class, other than Physical Education, in gym suits or blue jeans. Exceptions are made for field trips.

Girls are not permitted to go to classes, to the dining hall, or to town with their hair rolled up.

Raincoats, or other long coats, must be worn (buttoned up) over bathing suits when going to and from the swimming pool.

Attending Athletic Events (Women.)

All girls are permitted to go to varsity basketball games, veteran's games, laboratory high school games.

Girls attending local football games off-campus are expected to be back in the dormitory by 10:30.

To be added under Senior Dating:

Senior girls have the privilege of staying out until 11:00 during the spring quarter.

Under Junior Dating 10 b, page 54, entire paragraph changed to read as follows:

Juniors may have dates on or off campus on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, but only on campus on Saturday and Sunday nights. Church dates are permitted Sunday evenings. In addition, they may have three dates a week at night, on or off campus.

William Haaker, Concert Pianist, At College Auditorium January 10

William Haaker, pianist and conductor of the Richmond and Virginia Orchestras, will appear at Georgia Teachers College at 8:15 P. M., Tuesday, January 10, in the second concert of the series sponsored by the college and the Statesboro Concert Association.

Haaker, a protege of Jose Iturbi, will offer a program ranging from the works of Chopin to compositions reflecting late trends in popular music. The audience will

Frosh Sponsoring T.C. Circus Dance

The freshman Class invites everyone, young and old, to the Circus Dance Saturday night in the college gym. The festivities start at 8 o'clock, so be on time. This occasion will be an informal affair, and everyone is assured of a good time.

'Graduated Dog' Seeks Her Career

A female terrier that strayed from Teachers College campus has attached herself, appropriately, to the office of a county board of education almost 40 miles away.

A letter received during the holidays told how the dog hopped into an automobile leaving the college on the last Sunday in August, jumped out at Millen, and appeared at the education office in the Jenkins county court house on the following morning.

The "friendly and well-trained" terrier has been with the education since that time, Mrs. Hugh Parker, of Millen, wrote President Henderson. Mrs. Parker said that she learned only a few days ago how the visitor got to Millen, and that she wanted to give the owner an opportunity to reclaim the dog.

The terrier apparently has been graduated, along with her master. No one here knows whose dog she was.

Rasmussen Wants Band Material

If you have ever played a band instrument—even though it may have been years ago—drop into my studio behind the high school auditorium and see me about playing in the college concert band, or the special training band which is being formed this quarter. No matter how well or how poorly you play, there is a place for you in our instrumental music program.

MR. RASMUSSEN,
Band Director.

T.C. 'Professors' Begin With Gusto

The T. C. "Professors" are ready to swing out with a much improved orchestra for the winter quarter. New personnel will provide valuable additions to all three sections of the orchestra: reed, brass, and rhythm.

A concert in jazz will be presented on a chapel program early this quarter. A special feature of this concert will be a group of Stan Kenton arrangements featuring Professor Jack Broucek at the piano. A new sextet will also perform at this concert. It consists of James Newsome, piano; Dick Cohan, bass; Andy Odum, drums, Sonny Hawkins, trumpet; Don Coleman, tenor sax; and Professor Rasmussen, clarinet.

The same proportion of slow and fast numbers will be used at college dances. Three ballads, followed by one shag, or jump number.

The personnel of the orchestra for the winter quarter will be as follows: Don Coleman, James Screws, Eddie Ort, Sammy Bryant, Bill Brown, Sonny Hawkins, Russ Averitt, Tommy Roberts, James Newsome, Dick Cohan, Cliff Key, Johnny Barr, Bobby Humphrey, and Chester Pool.

In addition to the lovely vocalizing of Anna Maria (Butch) Tappens, will be the smooth ballads of Russ Everitt. Yes, it promises to be a fine quarter for the T.C. "Professors."

Junior Band Open To All Students

The Junior Band, a newly-organized music organization, meets in the auditorium on first and third Wednesday nights at 7 o'clock, and on second and fourth Wednesday nights at 8 o'clock.

The organization is open to anyone, from beginners on, who are not yet qualified to play in the concert band. It also gives those already in the band opportunity to play parts or instruments other than those they play in the concert band.

LONG WEEK END SCHEDULE CHANGED

The first winter quarter long week end which was scheduled for the week end of January 28, has been changed, according to the Dean, to the week end of February 4 due to a ball game.

New Bill Paying Plan Is Instituted

The Business Office has devised a new system of finding out "Who's Paid" this quarter.

Upon paying the quarter's bills, a registration number was stamped on each card. In classes Friday, the rolls were checked by each student responding with his registration number. The instructors then placed each number on the student's course card.

78 On TC Dean's List For Last Fall

Seventy-eight students were named on the Dean's List, Fall quarter. Of this number, ten students had all "A's." The "A" students were: Robert Abell, Jack Biles, Mrs. Wynelle Brown, Martha Jean Eason, Fred Kennedy, Mrs. Marcelene Kopp, Mrs. Kate Martin, James C. Pennington, Billy Taylor, and Leon Thigpen Jr.

Others on the Dean's List were: Jo Anne Allen, Jane Ashurst, Fred Brown, Louise Burch, Larry Burke, Jean Cantrell, Edith Carpenter, Charlotte Clements, Martha Coffia, Robert Cone, Norris Dean, Hellen Downie, Tommy Dugger, Betty Jean Eason, Albin Eber, Betty Fuller Robert Griffin, Joanne Groover, Frank Hammond Jr., W. S. Hanner Jr., Margaret Harrison.

Vannilu Harrison, Gilbert C. Hughes, III, James Hughey, Barbara L. Jacobs, Jimmy Jenkins, August E. Johnson, Rosemary Johnson, Mack Kitchens, Grady Lane Jr., Iris Lee, Stewart Lester, Jack Lindsey Jr., Burney Anna Mann, John Martin Jr., Sara Melton, John S. Mikell, Alvin Moreland, John M. Odom, Juliet Oliver, Mary Ellen Parrish, Mrs. Edith Peacock, Pat Quattlebaum, Earle M. Reynolds, Alan W. Rogers, Murray A. Rogers.

Betty Anne Sherman, Ouida Sherman, Shirley Ann Shuman, H. T. Singletary Jr., Rose Mary Snider, Mrs. Curtis Spell, Joel A. Stowers, Joe C. Stubbs, Ninette Sturgis, Bobby Taylor, Anna Maria Tappens, Rayma C. Tyson, Morris Underwood, Jean Walters, Paul E. Waters, Carl C. Wilkinson, Emily Williams, Frances Williamson, Martha Wood, and A. J. Woods.

T. C. Shows Gain

Although we do not know the total number of losses, T.C. gained 62 new students this quarter, according to the registrar.

President Gets Miniature Dorm

President Henderson's persistent request for an additional men's dormitory was too big for Santa to fulfill, but at the faculty formal the Saturday before Christmas holidays, he was presented a miniature of the proposed residence hall.

Though T.C. is the only college in Georgia devoted exclusively to the training of teachers, we have only one men's dormitory and it has been badly crowded since the war.

RADIO HOUR SCHEDULE FOR MONTH OF JANUARY

T.C. Radio Hour schedule for January is as follows:

January 11—I. R. C.
January 18—Music Majors.
January 25—Home Economics and Art Clubs.

Plans for the remainder of the quarter are incomplete.

CHOIR DIRECTOR WILL ADDRESS ORGANISTS

Miss Elizabeth Bucksham, organist and choir director of Bull Street Baptist Church, Savannah, will speak at the January 12 meeting of T.C.'s chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

"Did you ring, Sir?"

Texts Are Valuable

THOUGH OUR TEACHERS, house mothers, and even our fellow students keep reminding us that "Christmas is over; this is 1950, and there's work to be done," it is hard for us to really get back to work. We blame our feelings on the weather and say we'd rather be outside in the open air, taking in the sunshine that we are blessed with than stay in our rooms studying. But, we must get to work.

A good rule to apply to class and homework is a day-to-day study. As many of us discovered at the end of the Fall quarter, cramming the night or week before exams is no good. I know some teachers are ruthless in their assignments, but I've seen relatively few overworked students on our campus—I mean overworked insofar as study is concerned.

It know it has been said that T.C. is "laying down the law" this year and is really tightening up on students, but that is to be expected. If any college is to grow, it must profit by the mistakes of its youth, and we all know that we learn more when we study harder and have more to prepare.

Day-to-day study includes both textbook study and library or other research work. Putting what we learn into everyday practice could easily be added. Far too many texts lie on dusty shelves of unused desks, unopened, unperused, and unread. If our texts are read, we learn much more than we do by merely attending classes. Class discussions are not meant to completely cover the texts, but, we must supplement our class discussions with prepared subject matter if we are to grow. We all know the value of library visitation is unmeasurable, for there is a wealth of knowledge stored there.

Haven't you ever envied the person who is able to go to a movie the night before exams, or take in all the ball games and dances the week a term paper is due? He is one of those persons who studies from day-to-day and thoroughly familiarizes himself with his texts.

I assure you if you do read your texts you will be a much broader and more learned individual. Texts can be interesting and usually are if they are taken in small doses instead of gulped in one mouthful, or not tasted at all. When Francis Bacon says in his Essay On Studies, "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested," he surely would have included texts among the "few to be chewed and digested" group.

I'm telling you this now, so at the end of the quarter you "cram," I can laugh, look unconcerned, and say, "I told you so."

HAPPINESS ITSELF is sufficient excuse. Beautiful things are right and true; so beautiful actions are those pleasing to the gods. Wise men have an inward sense of what is beautiful, and the highest wisdom is to trust this intuition and be guided by it. The answer to the last appeal of what is right lies within a man's own breast.—Aristotle.

READ 'N' GRIN

Miss Michael (asking Mr. Taylor to do a job for her: "I'll dance at your wedding.")

Mr. Taylor: "Will you be the bride?"

T.C. Student: "Why don't you shoo the flies?"

B.D.S. Worker: "Well, you see, it's hot today, so we thought we'd let them run around barefooted."

"So you've got back from your vacation. Feel any change?"

"Not a cent!"

Matrimony: Something that reduces bushels of kisses to a few little pecks.

A good education enables a person to worry about things in all parts of the world.

Freshman: "Will your people be surprised when you graduate?"

Senior: "NO, they've been expecting it for several years."

"Who won the beer drinking contest?"

"Schultz won the first prize, and I came in sickened."

RIDDLE

What we caught

(Answer—Fleas.)

College is a fountain of knowledge where everybody is invited to drink.

Let's Do Away With Cheating

Do you cheat? "Well, just a little every now and then," you might answer. "When the teacher isn't looking, of course."

Have you ever wanted something to be done about cheating? Didn't other cheaters disgust you? When you have really worked hard, honestly, doesn't it hurt you deep to see your neighbor pull out his notes on a test and set the curve, or maybe just make better than you?

Of course, you mind when other people cheat—but do you mind enough not to cheat occasionally yourself, when you find it convenient?

Emory is doing something about its students who are caught cheating. One student was dropped from school at the end of last quarter for a period not to exceed one quarter, just because he cheated on an exam.

Of course it would be unlucky and extremely embarrassing to be caught cheating and sent home, but all cheaters aren't caught—fortunately. Who would stay to keep the school in operation, for it is said that a vast majority of college students will cheat if given the chance.

Isn't it amazing the number of students who spend their parents' or even their own hard-earned money to come to school and then play unfairly with themselves, the teachers, and fellow students?

You don't have to cheat. Make this your motto—it will also boost the morale of your conscience: THINK BEFORE YOU CHEAT. The answers might accidentally be recollected if you think.

Let's do away with cheating entirely; then everyone will have a fair chance. And when their report cards come they will have grades of which they are proud.

I Resolve—

THERE ARE RESOLUTIONS and resolutions. There are resolutions by a legislature, resolutions by a committee, resolutions that are made in the dead of night while you are suffering from a splitting headache. There are the "Resolved" in debating societies and numerous others. But at the moment we will concern ourselves only with the "I resolve" made on a bright New Year's morn.

As most of you already know, T.C. students don't need many resolutions. But here are a few gathered from a light gleaming on the campus:

First we approach a little black-haired girl. "My resolution," she said, "Not to date any boys besides Robert. (But, of course, I must consult him.)"

Other resolutions made by our fair students:

Not to put sugar in coffee, because I'm sweet enough.

Never drop a drink—hic—drink a drop.

To be true to my two and only.

To raise as much "cain" as I can and make four "A's" in the process.

To go skating only once a week and not borrow any more money.

To get up every morning and go to breakfast—Mother.

To be true to my darling in my fashion.

Not to sleep in any more of my classes.

To take advantage of all my class cuts.

To never sleep more than seven days a week.

And here's one from The George-Anne editors: To go out and murder somebody to make some news.

Wanted—One Men's Dormitory

AGAIN WE HAVE been pondering the desperate housing shortage here. Of course, we all laughed at the jokes about the dearth of dormitory space, here, but now is the time to think seriously about this major problem.

The nation has been broadcasting loudly the need for well-trained teachers. Certainly the State of Georgia isn't in any position to say that it doesn't need teachers, too. But in its failure to finance its only college devoted exclusively to the educating of these teachers it is doing just that. We wonder (if the facts were really known) how many prospective teachers were turned away from a career in the teaching profession simply because they could not get in any of the dormitories?

At present, T.C. has enough women's dormitories to support the demand.

However, when it comes to room space for men, we are sadly lacking. Certainly, this deficit cannot be laid at the door of our administration. For several years, our president has been begging for enough funds to build a new boys' dormitory. No one except the "powers that be" knows why he has been denied the money when the need for a dormitory is so self-apparent.

Is T.C. denied the money because the University System hasn't enough money to finance such a project? We doubt it. Or is it because of the rivalry between schools in the University System? This sounds more logical.

Only time will tell whether T.C. will eventually secure the needed funds. The only thing our students and the administration can do is wait and hope. We must all rally behind our president and give him our wholehearted support in this campaign.

Welcome Back

WELCOME BACK to a new quarter of work and fun. We have some mighty interesting ball games and other on-campus events coming up this quarter. Though winter is often said to be a drab season of the year, whether weather conditions permit or not, T.C. students will all be steamed up enough to go out and root for what T.C. wants and what T.C. has already got.

We've all got to work in order to maintain the standard that T.C. has attained. The Freshman class is a fine example of that. I understand all 250 of the freshmen are working to make the first Freshman dance a success.

But work isn't everything we need. Of course, there's cooperation and school spirit, the pet gripes of The George-Anne; but they will come in time.

THE EDITOR.

Welcome, students and teachers. Let's get to work and show ourselves what we can do.

NEWS OF OUR ALUMNI

Doris Hagin, who finished in December, is teaching the second grade at Thompson.

Bobbie Quick, also a December graduate, is teaching at Oak Park.

This little article appeared in Glynn Academy "Beach Comber":

"Mr. Smith, what high school did you graduate from?"

"I finished at Emanuel County Institute. By the way, that's where Mr. Boswell graduated."

"Where did you go to college?"

"I went to Georgia Teachers College! Mr. Smith is the new band director this year."

"Do you like teaching here?"

"It is swell, because everyone is so friendly."

This was told a reporter of The Beach Comber last week. And, of course, the article was about Hoke Smith, of T. C.'s 1949 graduating class.

Ben Jones, class of '40, has completed work on his doctorate at the University of Texas. He is now employed as a member of the faculty at the University of Mississippi.

James Dickson Jr., graduate of the 1938 class, was on the campus of the State University to begin work on his doctorate.

Saturday. He plans to attend Florida. Dr. Elizabeth McNally, class of '41, of Oklahoma City, visited on the campus Wednesday.

Willard Clanton, accountant in New York City, visited our campus during the Christmas holidays.

Lonnie Hollingsworth, teaching in Florida, visited our campus during Christmas holidays.

CREATIVE WRITING

I am the sea.

My waves are prehensile; my domain, a sepulcher of oblivion. For countless centuries I have thrown myself upon the sands of time. My head has rested upon the bosom of embryonic nations and crumbling empires.

I am nourished with the water of a thousand singing streams.

I am the sea.

I have yielded bountiful and bitter harvests unto the fishers of men.

Multitudes have been soothed by my sonorous song and have wondered of my strength.

The weak look to me for courage and hope, the strong for wisdom and peace.

The disconsolate seek balms for their wounds from my depth, And the happy shout joy to my capricious waves.

I am the sea.

All manner of men cast their bread upon my waters,

And I refuse them not.

The utterances of many voices are immured within my grasp.

Sincere hearts are opened unto me and

I am silent with my trust.

I am adamant: Nothing can penetrate the depth of my silence.

Mothers, for countless ages, have watched happy children fling themselves with unquestionable surity upon the mercy of my waves.

Sons have left the warmth of glowing hearth to seek the unknown within my realm.

Husbands have forsaken their wives and clinging arms of babes to find comfort in my watery embrace.

I am the sea.

I have stolen babes from their mothers, sons from their lovers, men from their wives to colonize my cities in the deep.

I am the sea.

I welcome that which is scorned and ignored.

I cherish the smallest pebble I seize from the golden sand.

of my brow is a crown to me.

Nothing is too minute, nothing is too great to join my vast hoard.

I am the sea.

I am the adventure that stirs sleeping passion to lust.

I am the fever that rises with the twang of salt spray.

I am the longing that grows and becomes an obsession.

The sea! The sea! I am a poison that spreads in the blood of man.

I am the sea.

Daring, cruel.

Tender, harsh.

Shallow, deep.

Calm, tempestuous.

Forever shall I becom men unto me,

For theirs is the hope to conquer and mine is the unconquerable vice.

GOALS

Due to circumstances beyond their control, the Blue Tide has lost one of their fine ball players, Coach Searce has announced. Big Jim Moore, tall center from Rebecca, has been dropped from the squad because of "unsatisfactory scholarship." Jim was an all-Southeastern junior college when he was playing for Brewton-Parker. Jim is still in school, and whether or not he will play baseball depends on his grades this quarter. Last summer Jim played ball for Millen in the Ogeechee League.

The Blue Tide will meet the strong Jax Navy team Wednesday night at 8:15 p.m.

The boys will be out to show the homefolks that the game against Spring Hill was just one of those things when they hit the hardwood Wednesday night. They didn't like the idea of losing any more than Coach Searce, so they have really been working hard for this one.

Big Jim Moore will be missed, but the boys will be really working for him, too.

Plans for the intramural basketball are being drawn up, according to Coach J. I. Clements in a statement made this week. Several teams have already entered their applications and Coach Clements says he hopes to begin games in the near future. During the past, these games have proved to be jam-up. Let's all go out and support our team!

THE SPORTS WORLD MISSES STRAWN

Richard "Whispering" Strawn didn't show up after Christmas to take over his old job here on the staff. The sports department of The George-Anne is really missing the little fellow.

Richard may not have been the best sports writer in the world, but he sho' was the best in this department.

The new man on the staff is Ed Mitchell, of Sylvania. Ed has jumped right into his job and already I'm sitting back doing nothing, like I've always done.

FIGHT FOR "THE TIDE"

Well, the Tide finally dropped one over the holidays. We always hate to lose, but, after all, it happens to almost every team. In our opinion, this is pretty good business, since no one wants to schedule the "Tide" anymore.

So we lost to Spring Hill by 25 points. So, what? Let's all turn out to the games this week. Remember last year when Erskine gave the boys such a hard time and the gang credited the first win to the fact that some of the stu-
